PRESENTATION

The international conference ‘Verbal Adjectives and Participles’ (Arbeitstagung of the Society for Indo-European Studies / Indogermanische Gesellschaft / Société des Études Indo-Européennes), to be held in Paris in September, 24th-26th, 2014, intends to investigate the relationships between verbal adjectives and participles in the Indo-European languages.

The wide range of data that involve these categories were not treated in a comprehensive way in Indo-European studies. It is a well-known fact that the border between these two classes may fluctuate across languages and reveals an intricate morphology-syntax interplay. One should then reopen some basic questions. What is a verbal adjective? What is a participle? What is the difference between these verbal categories and nominal categories such as agent nouns? What is a gerundive? What is an absolutive? The conference will cover issues of descriptive and historical morphology (inflection, derivation) in the individual Indo-European languages. The syntax and syntactic functions expressed by the formations mentioned above will be especially emphasized. The aim of this conference is to highlight convergences and divergences in the treatment of verbal adjectives and participles across the Indo-European languages. Issues of Proto-Indo-European reconstruction will also be addressed. Besides, the typological perspective will be considered by several contributions. On the whole, most Indo-European languages, ancient as well as modern, will be covered by the papers. One may expect that the conference will reflect the current situation of scholarship on several interrelated issues of history and comparison of languages.

Each paper will be allowed 30 minutes (ca. 20 minutes + 10 minutes of discussion). The languages of the conferences are French, German and English.

PRACTICALITIES

Conference fee

Conference fee for all attendants and participants: 20 euros. This sum will be paid at the registration desk (located at the site of the conference, given above) at the beginning of the conference.

Getting there

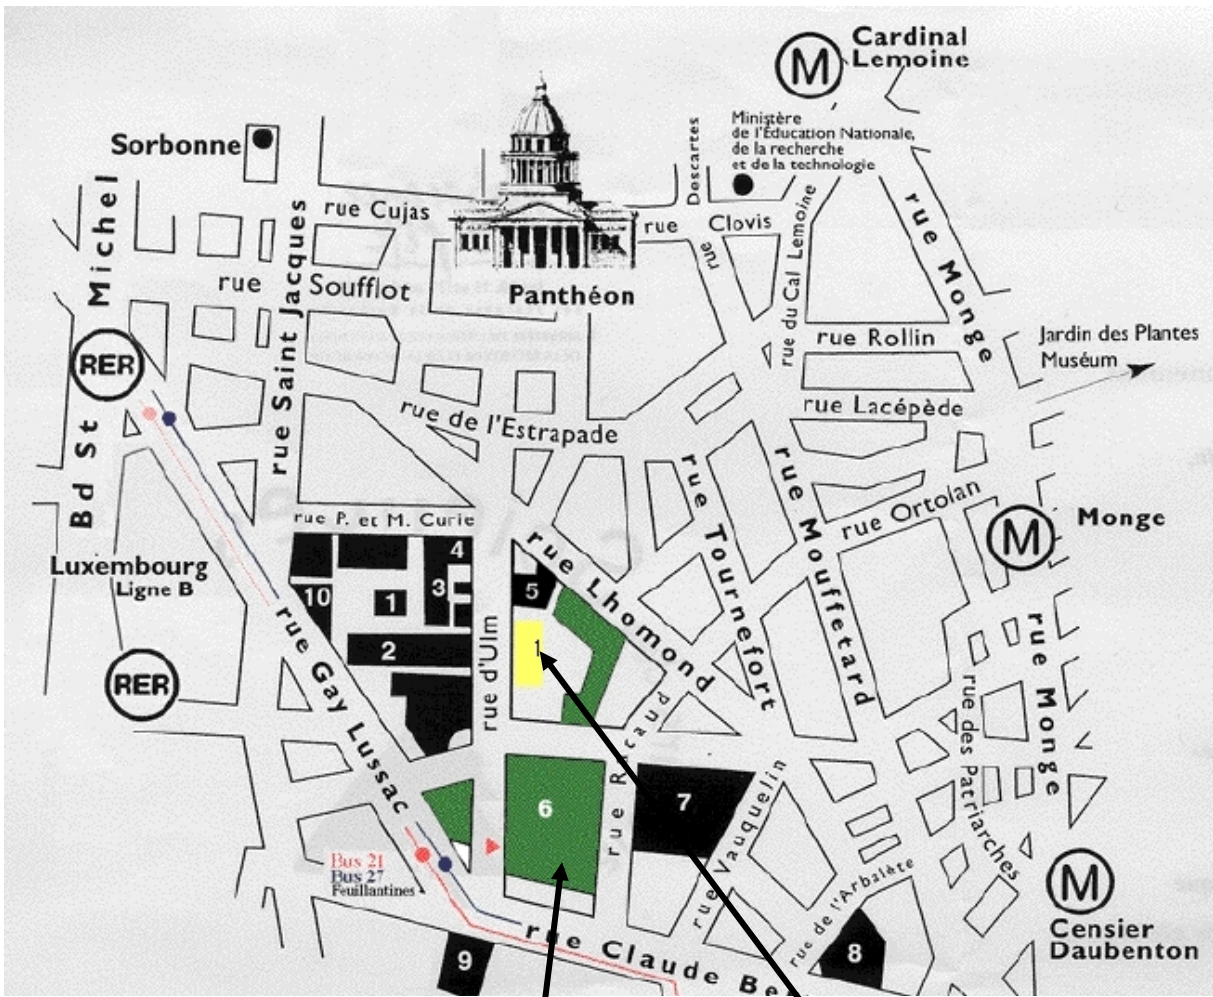

The participants should travel (airplane, train, subway) at their own costs. The conference will take place at the École Normale Supérieure, 29 rue d'Ulm, 75005 Paris. A plan of the campus of the École Normale Supérieure is available here below. For a map, go to Google Maps (<https://www.google.fr/maps>) and search for "29 rue d'Ulm, 75005 Paris, France". Precise information about routes and times from point to point on the Paris metro system may be found at the SNCF website (<http://www.transilien.com>).

Taxis from the airports to the heart of Paris are really expensive (minimum 50 euros), but public transportation will take you there quickly.

From Roissy airport (Aéroport Charles de Gaulle-Roissy), take a regional train, RER B (every 5 minutes); all trains go to Paris. Or take the Roissybus (every 15 minutes) from the airport to Paris Opéra. From Paris Opéra, you have a connection with Métro, Lines 3, 6, 7, 8. Line 7 goes to "Place Monge" or "Censier Daubenton", three hundred meters from the École Normale Supérieure. The station closest to the École Normale Supérieure is "Luxembourg".

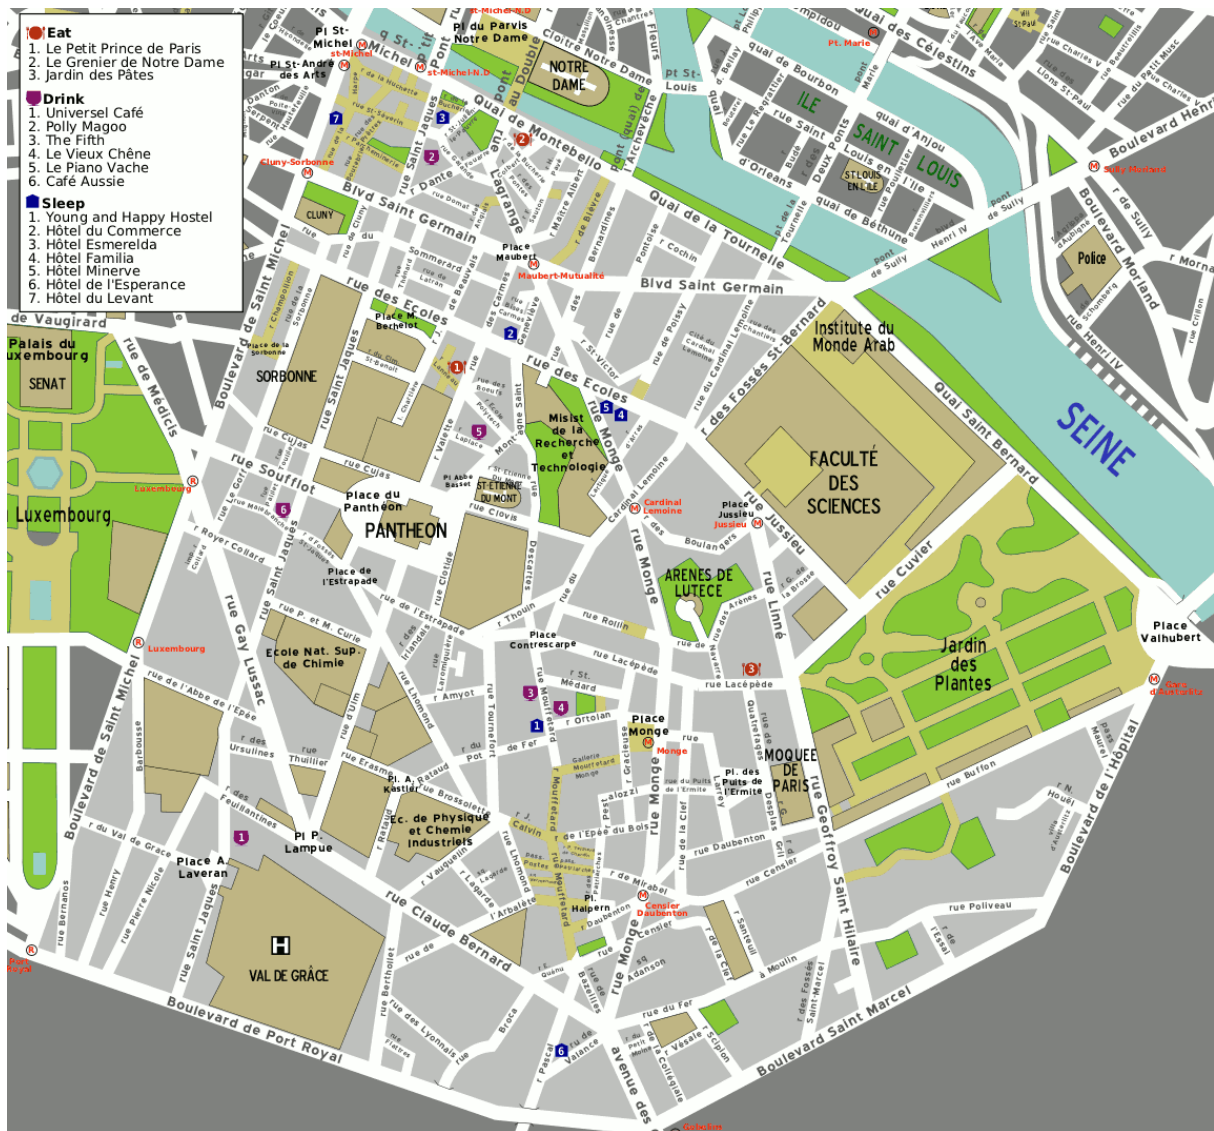

From Orly airport (Aéroport d'Orly), take the Orlyval to the RER station "Antony", and from there RER B to Paris. Get off at the "Luwembourg" station.
